Are tenants complaints legitimate or excuses?

by GLORIA DAVIS

The News article on Trevor House, an apartment building at the intersection of North Ave. and Trevor Rd., which has been red tagged for life safety violations by the Lake County Building and Zoning authorities, drew responses from the Michael Erde, the attorney representing the property's owners, Antioch Commercial Co., the manager who has asked to have her name withheld, and some of the tenants.

Whether or not the tenants are holding rent back in protest of the property's condition or just bad payers is not the issue. The main issue is that the housing authorities found safety violations there that did not occurr just since the protests began in August.

Erde objects to the article's report that present rental charges at Trevor House may be too high for apartments in a building that has been red tagged by the county.

One of the complaining tenants' rent was $70 per week. The new lease issued everyone at the end of August, after most of the tenants had refused to pay their rent until repairs were done to the property, had her rent at $280 per month plus heat costs of $43 and electricity of $21, totaling $344 plus $300

The amoratising of the utility charges was questioned since there are no individual meters and different amounts of people in each apartment.

A check with two local realty firms revealed many two bedroom apartments, with rents starting at $350, including heat, in late model brick apartment buildings that are closer to Antioch's business and commercial area, and its parks and schools.

These buildings have also not been red tagged for building violations.

Erde claimed the article was one sided and the paper had not interviewed all his tenants. He produced three letters of recommendation for his company's rental practices, two from anonymous tenants, one from Trevor House who claims to be afraid of the other tenants.

Fear seems to be running rampant in this situation. The tenant that brought this. situation to the attention of the News wants anonimity because she is afraid of the manager. The manager wants her name deleted because the revealing of her whereabouts will put her in personal danger and now we have someone afraid of the other tenants.

The News talked to four of Erde's tenants, he himself and the manager and printed what they had to say about the situation.

The other letter of recommendation was from tenants in another rental property belonging to Antioch Commercial and handled by Erde and the same manager.

Kent and Linda Ravens seem more than satisfied with their dealings with Erde but. then they do not live in Trevor House.

They rave about the manager and even mention "she attends church with us, her children play with ours and ours play with

Two burned

Woman, 23, dies in Loon Lake fire

by GLORIA DAVIS

An Antioch woman died in a fire that started early Sunday morning which also left a man and his two-year-old daughter in the hospital with second degree burns.

According to Antioch Fire Chief Todd Maplethorpe, the Antioch Fire Dept. received the call at 4:06 a.m. on Oct. 30. When the fire department arrived, the small year-round home in Villa Racia Subdivision, in Loon Lake, was completely involved in Cathy Meens, 23, who lived in the home, died in the fire. The owner of the house, Robert Hunt and his daughter Stephanie were taken to the hospital, suffering from burns, by the Antioch Rescue Squad.

"Authorities are looking at a possible fire in a trash can as the cause," said Maplethorpe, adding that the case is still under investigation.

$175,000 possible for areas's flooding problems

According to Dorothy Taylor, representing the Lake County Dept. of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality, at a meeting of the planning commission last week the commission tentatively gave Lake Catherine $125,000 and Channel Lake $50,000, towards solving those area's drainage problems.

Good news in The News

Antioch Lower Grade School PTO will begin at 2 p.m. at the Windiammer Restaurant.

Studio Barton of Elgin will photograph family groups by appointment at the Lower Grade School, 817 Main St., Antioch.

A sitting fee of $8 entitles each family group to one 11 by 14 inch portrait. Photos will be delivered by Dec. 16. There is no obligation to buy additional photos.

Participation is not limited to school families. However, children will not be accepted unless accompanied by a parent or guardian. The public is welcome to call the school office at (312) 395-0845 for asitting time or more information.

Dinner and fashion

The Antioch Jaycees will host a dinner and fashion show Sunday, Nov. 6. The all you can eat dinner will begin at 2 p.m. at the Windjammer Restaurant.

The dinner menu includes chicken, mostacolli and a salad bar for $5 per person. The fashion show will be sponsored by Four Squires, Antioch.

Anyone interested in attending should make reservations by Nov. 1 by calling Debbie O'Connor at (312) 395-0152 or (312) 395-6555 or Ginetta Salonen at (312) 395-2093.

The allocations are not definite because there are still two more drainage studies to come in to the county and the cost of these may change the amount of the Community Block Grant Funds to be distributed among the targeted flood areas.

The solving of the long-time flooding problems that have plagued the residents of Felters Subdivision in Antioch Township holds first priority on the list of the engineering study that deals with the solving of drainage problems of nine subdivisions in the township.

Robert Devery, engineer hired by the township to make a study a recommend solutions to these problems, spoke at a meeting of the township board and representatives of the subdivisions.

According to Devery, the drainage. systems of the subdivsions are out of date and drainage pipes are too narrow to handle flooding problems.

The engineer also said that each separate area has its own problems with an estimated $50,000 price tag on each solution, adding up to a total estimated necessary expenditure of $800,000.

The township presently has $119,000 available for the project with hopes of more grant monies to come.

Antioch Township Supervisor Jim Fields outlined the necessity for the biggest flooding areas to be taken care of first and Felters was so designated.

Bigger drainage pipes and a retention pond were among the corrective measures planned in that subdivision.

The other eight subdivisions having like problems are Crandall's, California Ice and Coal, Shannon, Channel Lake Bluffs, Woodcrest, Channel Lake Shores, Morley's and Grandview.

Fields added that the township will try to pay for the engineering study and the onsight inspections.

Kathleen Rumsey of the Lake County Dept. of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality, who has been working for the county, was also present at the township meeting and expressed expectations then that Antioch would receive a substantial amount of next year's block grant fund distribution.

Ask Dr Sven by Robert T. Sven B.S.D.D.S.

Question: How do hormones affect the health of gums and Answer. Stage of life and hormone level play a role in the condition of the mouth, particularly a woman's mouth, affecting the control or progress of gingivitis and periodontitis. Taking birth control pills can promote inflammation and bleeding of the gums and cause problems with breath odor, and hormonal changes during pregnancy may produce puffy, swollen gums, Both sexes are affected when the body releases hormones in response to physical or emotional stress. This can greatly affect periodontal tissue in that it increases susceptibility to infection due to a decrease in tissue defenses against disease. And teenagers, with their rapid rate of hormonal change and growth combined with erratic eating habits, poor diet and oral hygiene, experience a tremendous rate of tooth decay and gingivitis.

To combat problems brought on by hormonal change, dentists need complete medical histories, including a knowledge of lifestyle, occupation, diet and dental hygiene patterns.

When I think about it

80's harassed female just isn't all there is!

by GLORIA DAVIS

The thought that I was born in the wrong century has always lurked in one of the secret recesses of my mind mainly because the good Lord gave me a shape that would appeal more to Renior's good taste in "ample" women then that of the modern males that leacherously lear at the spare shape of Joan Collins in the Playboy centerfold.

And I find being a spoiled courtesian in Louis IVX's court more attractive than the ERA struggle or fighting my way through the male masses to gain the top of the shakey

Corporate ladder.

Lying in a satin draped boudior, nibbling on bon bons, yet welding the power to shake a kingdom like Madame Pompadour did, seems a much more fun way to command than the 80's style female-male gnashing of capped teeth in order to top the power structure.

I can no longer say "to see who wears the pants" because it's well known fact that the misleading uniform of the well-dressed female exec is a softly draped dress.

The thing that really convinces me that I belong more to an age of simplicity, is my inability to handle anything that is electronic or mechanical.

A fault which really leaves me in limbo in this machine oriented electronic age.

Forget the facts that I can't figure out how to set a digital clock, set my video recorder to record a show when I'm not home to watch it, am spastic when it comes to video games, and my fingers are too large for the buttons on my pocket calculator.

The A-Team has nothing on me when it comes to the complete annihilation of all the "useful" mechanical gadgets my kids keep giving me to make "housekeeping" easier.

Even the word "housekeeping" is a bald misrepresentation when it comes to anything I do around the house. Who wants to "keep" a house at my age. As Henny Youngman would say, "Take my house, please!"

. I bet I am the only housewife(again a bad word, who would marry a house?) in history that succeeded in breaking an electrical can opener that had a 30-year guarantee, on the second day, when I tried to open one of the new foil envelope "cans" with it.

I go through a new Mr. Coffee every six months. Maybe it's because I get only a half-pot of coffee when I pour a full pot of water in that plastic box. Allowing for evaporation, I figure at least 1,000 gallons of water were gobbled-up by that thirsty little plastic box last year.

My microwave turns out nothing but rockhard dinner rolls and rubber hot dogs and my vacumn cleaner sounds like a cement mixer.

I wonder if that's where all my husband's missing fingernail clipper's are.

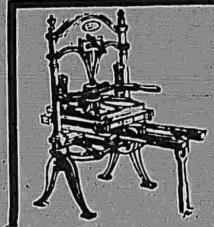

But I have thwarted my sock-eating washing machine by sending our laundry out. This way I only have two or three sock-stragglers left over each week and I can blame all those rings around the collars on the fact that my favorite laundryman sells hot jewlery on the side.

My dishes emerge from the dishwasherfull of water spots even when I just run them through the dry cycle. I can't remember if the water goes in the humidifier in the summer and keep turning the dehumidifier on in January.

And I never dare use any of the timeing mechanisms on my appliances because I'm completely convinced that the poltergiest that dwells under my sink would either shut it off and leave me with a raw dinner or turn the temp up, leaving me smouldering embers.

What this really all adds-up to is the indisputable fact that my husband would save money if he hired a battery of servants to take over all these mundane chores. It's either that or move to a motel and survive on "ordered-in Chinese."

'I know this isn't the ERA image of the selfsufficient woman but I hear that Madame Pompadour died at 92, never having popped a tranquilizer, with no worry lines on herface, no calluses on her hands, and a satisfied smile on her face and they buried her swathed in diamonds. A fate not all that bad!

The Time Machine

FIFTY YEARS AGO: Nov. 2, 1933

David Cox, 16 months-old, narrowly escaped death when a wheel of a car, being backed out of the family driveway by his father, Prof. Thomas Cox, passed over his head. The baby was not seriously injured.

Halloween pranksters set fire to the cornstalks in the yard of Richard Aliner. Aliner had been sworn in as a special deputy for Halloween vigilance. After he locked-up one high school youth as an example for others who were out for too good a time, some teens took Aliner's car and left it along a country road.

Mrs. N. L. Nelson was elected county oracle for the 1934 convention of the Royal Neighbors just held in Waukegan.

Illinois Gov. Horner's $30,000 relief bill failed to get a passing vote in the house of representatives and was defeated for the second time.

Twenty-eight of the rural Lake County schools received a superior rating from the county superintendent's office.

THIRTY-YEARS AGO: Nov. 5, 1953

Regal China started to rebuild the plant that was destroyed by fire at a cost of $100,000 for a new fire-resistant building.

After the Antioch Village Board passed an ordinance creating the office of village collector, Clarence Shutis was appointed to fill that office at a salary of $1,000 per year.

A general mass meeting, to be held at the Grass Lake School, was to explore the possibility of incorporating the fourth precinct of Antioch Township into a municipality.

Over 3,547 people paid to see the Sequoit football team play during the 1933 season.

Plans were in the workings to extend driver education classes into the rural areas of Lake County.

A survey of 50 Antioch residents by the News showed that the people of Antioch were behind President Richard Nixon in the Watergate Scandal.

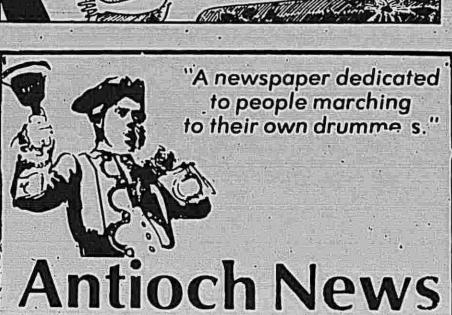

Robert Skidmore was seeking the Republican nomination to put him back in the Lake County Treasurer's office.

Cornelius (Casey) Lulofs was appointed by the National Intercollegiate Soccer Officials Assn. to officiate at the Ilinois High School Assn.'s soccer touney.

Miss Patti Caviness began teaching fourth grade in a "relocatable" classroom at Grass Lake School.

Letter To The Editor

After several weeks of reading your articles and letters to the editor regarding the naming of our new Athletic Field after Warren Polley, I feel that it is necessary to set the record straight. You will notice that I called the field an "Athletic Field" not a "Soccer Field".

This property has been designed and has the intended use for field hockey, baseball, football practice as well as soccer, so to be called a soccer field is in error.

The statement has been made the Warren Polley was against soccer—somebody better get their information straight.

At the time of Mr. Lulofs was coming to the board of education to plug soccer, there was no competition for us in the Northwest Suburban League. There was no field available or suitable to play on and there was no extra money available for the program.

Mr. Polley and the Board of Education were not against soccer, but felt it was not the time to invest in a program that could not be properly handled.

Now that we are in the North Suburban conference where there is competition and we have developed the property at Deep Lake and Grass Lake Rds. for various sports, we feel that we can (and we have) started to develop the soccer program.

I am in my 20th year as a member of the Antioch High School Board of Education and 11th year as its president and I can tell year, without any reservation, that there is no person more deserving of having the Athletic Field named after him than Warren Polley, a man who has given over 36 years of his life to the education and well being of the students that have been fortunate to have spent their high school days at ACHS and have had the good fortune of having Mr. Polley as a teacher, coach or administrator.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

It just goes to show that once an Antiochan. always an Antiochan! I hear that former residents, Marilyn (Furlan) and Gordon Heuer, Rose Ellen (Furlan) and Julius Monge, donated the first prize that was given away at the Lakes Region Historical Society's fund raiser, held on Sunday. Oct. 30, at the V.F.W. Hall.

The prize, a condo for one week in Breckenridge, Col., was made available because the Heurers and the Monges operate Summit Ridge, Inc., which offers vacationers an opportunity to rent fine homes and condos in a year-around ski resort

Happy Birthday to former Mayor "Missouri" Cunningham and Bob Carney.

Mary Jo Lindgren tells me that she and her husband, Harry, will be hosting a 17-year-old foreign exchange student from Staffanstorp, Sweden, starting in late August.

Eva Catarina Tossman, who has aspirations of becoming an attorney, will spend her senior year in high school at ACHS, while staying with the Lindgrens.

For those of you that love games, the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry is sponsoring the sale of a game called "Wheeler Dealer," that will be titled after Antioch.

The game is much like Monopoly with any of that game's drawbacks eliminated.

Instead of Park Place etc., names of local firms will appear on the game board, an advertisement to be seen by local children and adults for a long time.

Firms interested in going on the game board should get in touch with Dixie at the Chamber office.

What's this I hear about Mayor Ray Toft taking over his old business at the "Ship," etc. in Channel Lake?

Emmons incumbents challenge on ballot

Incumbent Ann Kaiser has been on the board for six years, and is running for reelection, "because I still have something to of-

She said she doesn't believe in specialization, and prefers to be concerned about the school as whole.

"And as a whole I think we're in really good shape," she said. "But we can always do better. If I am elected I want to continue general improvements, and avoid stagnation and dullness."

She and her husband Robert have lived in the Antioch area for 17 years. She has one son in eighth grade and a daughter at Antioch Community High School. Most recently she has been involved in setting up the school of cosmetology through the Area Vocational Advisory Board.

Sandra Steffenburg has served two and a half years on the board. In the past couple of years she's had a hand in implementing some new programs in the school, "and I'd like to continue to do that."

She's seen improvements in the library and on the playground, and she would next like to tackle math and science, and bring the computer program to the lower grades.

She has two children at Emmons and is involved in the PTO, "and I try and help out at the school at special events whenever I'm needed."

Steffenburg and her husband Tom have three children and have lived in the area for five years. Don Lassard, who has served on the board for three years, wants to stay on the board to give taxpayers "a run for their money."

"The kids are first and foremost, but the taxpayers do count," he said.

Lassard believes Emmons is on "absolutely sound footing academically and financially. The superintendent is fiscally responsible and the school has a good environment."

He said he's not in favor of rapid expansion. "I'm an evolutionist. I want to see our programs expand, but I want to see it done slowly.'

Lassard works for OMC Johnson and is a member of the Northern Illinois Conservation Club and Toastmasters. He and his wife Donna have one child at Emmons and three older children. They have lived in the area for 14 years.

Jan Ranney, a four year veteran of the board, is running again because she has children at the school. "I've had children in the system for many years and have always. been active."

She feels the board has done a good job that she would like to see continued. "We've given the building a facelift, purchased new playground equipment and have redone the library," she said. "I think there's potential for more growth."

She is a member of the PTO and has been a Girl Scout leader. "I help out whenever I .can," she said.

Ranney and her husband Michael have lived in the area for 15 years and have three children, with one still at Emmons.

Newcomer Alice Gantar is challenging five incumbents for five seats on the Emmons Grade School Board.

Gantar felt with five openings it was a good time to run for school board, and a chance for a new face to be introduced.

"I have three kids at the school and I want to be involved," she said. "I'm concerned about education. I think Emmons is a good school and I've seen progress made that I would like to see continued."

She believes the present school board is doing a good job and the district is in good financial shape. "I want to contribute to that progress and see to it that it continues."

Gantar has lived in the area with her husband, Michael, and family for seven years. She's been involved in the PTO and is a former PTO president.

Richard Becker, 43, has lived in the Antioch area since 1968. He has served two terms on the Emmons Grade School Board, having six children in the Antioch elementary and secondary school system.

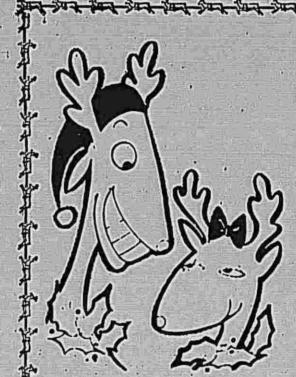

"We have a nice school and I want to keep it that way," he said.

Becker is after "maximizing the teachers' pay in order to keep the highest level in education in the school, yet making every effort to keep taxes low and in balance."

Tenants complaints

Some may question a reference that intimates that the Ravens and the manager are friends.

Erde blames the disabled veteran and Rick Henderson for the complaints to the county, saying that he had stopped Warner from being evicted twice, offering to let him do maintenance work to catch up on rent that is far behind.

Last week, when we talked to Erde he was willing to help the Warners stay. Then the interview with Judy Warner was printed, wherein she complained about the building's conditions and said they were trying to get into Section 8 Housing.

The Warners reportedly have to furnish the housing authorities with a written letter from the building and zoning department about the violations before they can qualify for immediate Section 8 Housing and they have had no success getting such a letter.

Erde claims the tenants stole the light. bulbs leaving the hallways dark but the tenants' retort is that they were constantly replacing old burned out ones out of their own pockets.

Erde blames much of the lack of repairs on Henderson saying he was responsible for them as maintenance man.

Henderson said that he was told not to fix certain things. Allegedly he was supposed to buy repair necessities and bill Antioch Commercial.

At the time he was doing the repair work because he was out of a job and didn't have the cash up front for this and the management knew it.

Erde claims to have information that it was Henderson who stuffed the toilets and then asked for the building inspection.

Erde said that the allegation that the tenants were not allowed to bring in groceries in the front door "was ridiculous!" Yet in a lease sent the tenants in September, article six states that no provisions, milk. marketing, groceries, furniture, packages or merchandise shall be taken into (Continued on Page 8)

GreatAmerican ranks highly

Great American Federal Savings has been ranked as the 4th highest performing savings and loan in the United States on the basis of return on average assets.

In 1982 Great American Federal recorded profits of more than $15 million.

Great American was the fourth best performing association in the asset category of all savings and loans with assets of between $500 million to $1 billion.

The ratings, published by the National Thrift News, also show that Great American ranked seventh in the nation in 1982, when compared to all major savings and loans (assets over $.5 billion).

National Thrift News reported Great American Federal's 1982 return on average assets at 2.160 percent on total assets of $878.2 million.

Great American's net worth increased to $35.5 million, and increase of 229 percent over the previous year. They also increased their branching network by 12 offices, including expanding their base of operations into Cen- A group of larks is tral Illinois.

John L. Domeier, chairman and president of Great American Federal said, "The increase in Great American's earnings position and improvement in net worth resulted from a progressive, active investment policy, lower interest rates, and from improved, effective cost controls.

With current 1983 assets of $977 million, Great American Federal has 27 branch locations.

Their main office is located at 1001 Lake St., in Oak Park.

Five Challengers in Grade School Dist. 34

In the November 11 school board election, challenging incumbents on the Antioch Grade School Dist. 34 Board, Garnet Cook, Jim Quedenfeld, Bruce Jablonski and Gail Heath are Roy Pomrening, Robert Olson, William Feezor, Marie Gedville and Phyllis Zora.

Newcomer seeking a four year election is Marie Gedville who is married and has four children, two of them currently attending W. C. Petty School.

She thinks that "the school board could use at least 50 percent new members."

She has been an Antioch resident for 13 years and busy with school activities since her oldest started attending school in Antioch.

Although she had made complaints about certain things at W. C. Petty school before the public objections to Principal Paul Hain. she thought last year's fight was "beating a dead issue."

Robert Olson, 46, has had three children go through the Antioch Grade School system. They are now all in high school.

He is a computer program analysist and claims that it is time for new leadership on the school board, objecting to the time it took the board to take a poublic stand on the Paul Hain issue last year.

He feels, "a good school system has to be supported by good teachers, who have to be supported by a good administration, supported by a good board, supported by the public."

William Feezor, 38, has lived in Antioch for nine years with his wife and three children. He is in sales and has been active in children oriented programs such as iceless hockey and the Lindenhurst Soccer League.

"I am concerned about our children and interested in the school curriculum and the quality of their education,." he said.

He is running for the board so that he can be involved in making decisions that will make the school district a stronger one.

Zora is vying with Jablonski and Pomrening for the open two-two years seats. She is a registered nurse with a community health masters degree, is married and has two children, both in the school district.

Being an Antioch resident for eight years, she feels that there's always room for changes and "you can't make changes unless you are on the board."

Pomrening is a 47-year-old airlines pilot who is an active member of the United Methodist Church and commuity and business organizations.

He said that he is running for the school baord, "to help maintain the strong financial integrity of our school system."

the premises through the front door except where there is no rear or service entrance.

On Oct. 21, Erde also said that he did not know of any violations except the faulty furnace, yet one tenant claims to have sent a letter to him dated August 29 that complains of no screens or storms, the furnace, and a falling apart back door.

Other complaints included a termite ridden tree overhanging the back porch, improper flooring and rotting window frames.

Erde claims to have set-up a meeting with the tenants and none of them showed-up.

The tenant response is that the meeting was changed from the premises in question to the manager's house and they were warned that the "police would be called if they raised their voices."

The tenant said their lawyer told them not to attend the meeting in less it was held at Trevor House:

Reportedly Erde talked to a tenant that same day and was told of the problems.

Erde said in his complaint to the News that he has received the list of the violations from the housing authorities and "my client has every intention of complying with the building violations and bringing everything up to code whether or not the present tenants who are not paying their rent are there or

The manager claims that the tenants stopped paying their rent before the new lease came "though they had the $ to sit in local bars."

She claims not to have harassed but "assisted many of the tenants, turning their names in for food baskets at Christmas."

She claims a check with the health department said the "water is fine," and also says that the pipes were intentionally clogged.

She talks about tenant vandalism and says that "these people have brought these problems on themselves," adding that the porch was properly repaired.

She claims that the lease rider does not say that complaints are harasment but means if the complaints do not constitute an emergency, "wait till a decent hour to report it," claiming to have been wakened at 4 a.m.

because of domestic squables.

Article seven of the rider states, "Lessor shall not be responsible for any damage to the premises or to any property contained therein, including injury to persons, whether caused by earthquake, fire, flood or overflow or leakage upon or onto the premises of water, steam, gas or by any breakage of pipes or plumbing nor for loss of property by theft or otherwise."

The manager's letter concludes with, "May God be with all of them."

At no time did the artcle question the condition or handling of any other property owned by Antioch Commercial, just the one tagged for violations.

The sheriff's department said that passersby found the body on the side of a road, near Dog Canyon, about eight miles southeast of Alamogordo, at approximately 1:15 p.m., on Sunday afternoon.

Palaske apparently died soon after he was "An ivestigation into the killing lead us to believe that Beach committed the murder,' said Corbin.

Beach is being held without bond in the county jail awaiting a trial date.

Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ballenger

Kerry Anne Kellogg and Earl W. Ballenger were married Oct. 1 at United Methodist Church, Antioch.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. George Kellogg, Antioch. Parents of the groom are June Gulbransen, Antioch and James Ballenger, Hope Hull, Ala.

Maid of honor was Brenda Harris with bridesmaids Terry Parker, Eileen Irmen and Reba Job. Flower girls were Kathleen Ballenger and Cindy Sandow.

Best man was Mike Fallon with groomsmen Mitch Kruezer, Greg Nottingham and Frank Petykowski. Usher was Chad Kellogg, brother of the bride. Ring bearer was David Smith.

A reception was held at the Country House in Antioch and a honeymoon was taken to California.

Both are graduates of Antioch Community High School. The groom is in the Air Force and is stationed at Luke Air Force Base, Arizona. They will be transferred to Bittberg, Germany in the spring of 1984. ..

Sequoits roll to 9-0 with 36-0 victory

After what Antioch footbal coach Steve Wapon termed "truely a team victory," the Sequoits will now take a week off and play a waiting game in preparation for state tournament play.

In running up a 36-0 rout of Zion-Benton, Antioch showcased its entire offensive and defensive squads before an overflow homecoming crowd in Antioch.

Antioch scored all the points it needed when with 6:32 remaining, John Mahar scored on a two-yard sweep around right end behind the block of junior guard Tim Princing. Quarterback John Humphreys' pass to Mahar from a unique formation, tacked on two more points for an 8-0 Antioch lead.

Then with four seconds left in the first quarter, Humphreys hit Bryan Becker for a 24 yard touchdown strike and then added the PAT kick for a 15-0 lead.

Antioch closed out its first half scoring when with 2:43 left in the half, Ed Silva scored on a seven yard run. Humphrey's point after kick was good.

Antioch added two more scores in the third quarter to round out the scoring. With 7:09 remaining, Humphreys hit Silva for eight yards and a touchdown as Bryan Becker opened up Silva in the endzone with a nice Block. Humphreys' kick was good.

Finally, Antioch's Mike Filipowicz recovered a squib kick on the ensuing kickoff and the Sequoits' final scoring drive ended when junior fullback Mike Dydo scored on a two-yard run. Humphreys' kick made the final margin 36-0.

Fossils of flowering plants 165 million years old have been found.

Dydo came off the bench to pace the Antioch attack as John Mahar, nursing a leg bruise, received a much deserved rest for much of the game. Mahar had seven carries for seven yards and one touchdown. Dydo tallied 91 yards in 16 carries and had one touchdown and his performance, as well as hard work in practices this year, prompted Coach Steve Wapon to predict that he'll be "a fine running back in the future." In all, nine players carried the ball for Antioch and seven had pass receptions.

Humphreys was 11 of 19 passing for 217 yards and two touchdowns. He also connected for a two-point conversion and four PAT kicks.

Becker led receivers with four catches for 81 yards and one touchdown.

The Sequoits will now begin preparations for the first game of the state grid playoffs, still not knowing who they might face or where.

The game will be played Wednesday, Nov. 9 and the Sequoits could be home or away. If the game is away, it could be either an afternoon or evening contest. The winner will then play again the following Saturday, Nov. 15.

Pairings will be announced Saturday evening, Nov. 4. Depending on the outcome of this weekend's games, Wapon theorized that the Sequoits could meet Rockford Boylan, Belvidere, Sterling, Crystal Lake Central who is in line for an atlarge berth, Waukegan West, Glenbard West or even Chicago Weber.

"It all depends on who makes it through the final weekend," said Wapon.

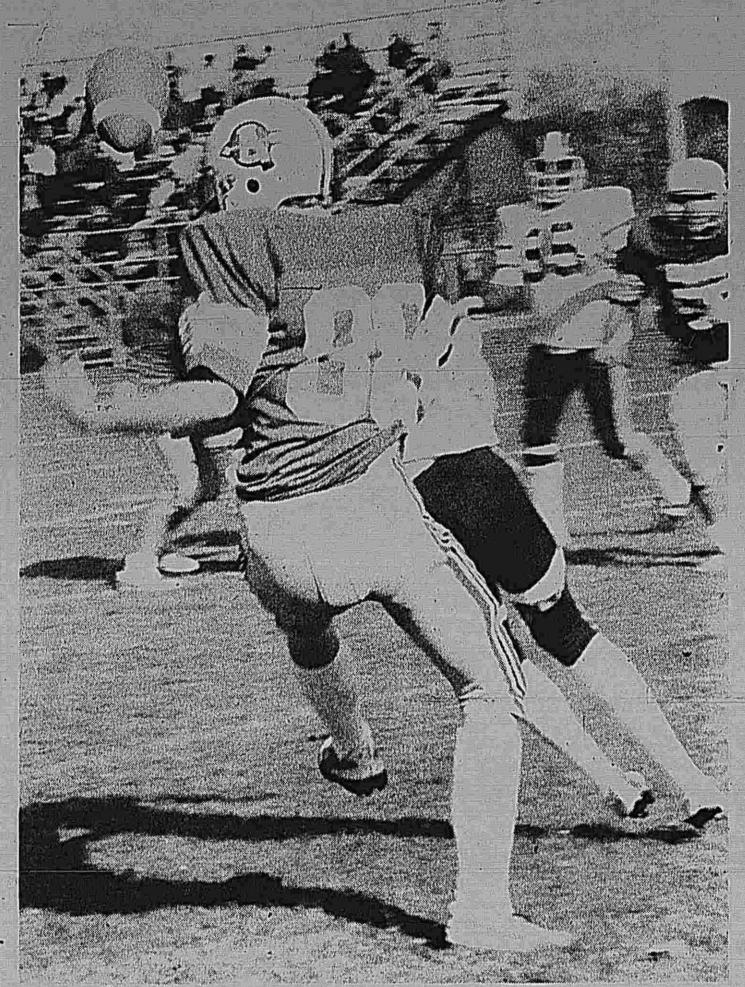

Wapon said his team will spend this week in preparation much as it has all season long. Monday is a run and lift day, with Tuesday through Thursday being hard practice sessions. "We want to keep our fitness level up," said Wapon. The weekend will be spent heavily scouting possible opponents Friday and Saturday and the coaching staff will meet Saturday night after pairings are announced to prepare for the Wednesday game.

Sunday the squad will meet at noon to begin mental preparations for the first round of the playoffs with final preparations Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 3-4.

"There is really a false feeling of how many days there are," said Wapon, adding that the emphasis during the coming days will be on "fundamentals, keeping our conditioning level high and healing up a few bruises."

Wapon lauded the support that Antioch showed for its team on the final game of the season which was also homecoming. "The parade was the biggest we've ever had for homecoming, the stands were full, the hills were full and there were some people by the south endzone. The people of Antioch have been a definate factor this year," Wapon added. "They're a spirited group and fun to play in front off," he said.

HE'S ALL HART — Dave Hart, Sequoit end, receives pass in game that clinched Antioch's unprecedented 9-0 season when they beat Zion-Benton, 36-0, in Saturday, Oct. 29, homecoming game. Hart caught two passes, one 53-yarder set up Antioch touchdown. — Photo by Steve Young.
